HOW TO GET THE BEST FROM FIELD VISITS

How to get the best from field visits

When you arrange visits to franchisees do you sometimes get the feeling they are really thinking “Oh here they come to drink my coffee and waste my time again”?

Are there some franchisees that you know you will struggle to find some common ground with and that the meeting will not be the highlight of your week?

Field visits shouldn't be like that should they? Well, all too often they are – but what a waste of a great opportunity for two parties who have mutual business goals to really help each other.

This workshop explains how with better communication and a little planning field visits can become a powerful and central tool for both you and your franchisees to successfully develop your businesses.
